

Additional resources for maintaining water supply - Decision no. 10 of the National Crisis Management Commission

The National Crisis Management Commission approved the allocation, from the state reserves, of three high-capacity motor pumps for S. A. "Apă-Canal Chişinău", to support the continuity of the population's water supply in the conditions of the reduced flows of the Dniester.

The measure comes next the work previously started on the National Crisis Management Platform, where the central authorities, local public authorities and water operators analyzed together the situation and the needs on the ground and the solutions that can be applied.

during the discussions, it was decided that the operators and the local public authority should present the adapted needs and the concrete scenarios in the field, and the central institutions of the state promptly identified the resources that can be mobilized to respond quickly where needed.

Thus, the capacities available at central and local level have complemented each other as we pursue a common goal of people continuing to have water and basic services running without interruption.